Coon Hunt Ends In a Battle Royal

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 10.—As the result of a coon hunt a trerific battle took place between the families of Frank Phillips, Tom Hooper and the Pucketts, near Gillespie and today 13 men and boys are nursing injuries, all who participated in the battle being hurt, some of them seriously. Frank Phillips had his jaw-one broken and Tom Hooper had his hroat cut. Others received lacerated leads, bruised limbs, etc. It is thought all will recover.

A Hooper and Puckett boy treed coon on the land of Frank Phillips, who drove them from the land and had he two boys arrested. It was following the trial in Squire Harrison's bourt that the battle occurred. Stones, eticks, pooket knives and fists were used. Sheriff Shields Harman placed

FROM 1858 TO 1914

This brief history of a pioneer doctor in Washington county, Onio, tell of a service to humanity that continued without interruption for fifty-six long years. The doctor in the early years of his practice, learned that even in the days before the Civil war the people needed a good tonic medicine, just as they do today. As was the practice in those early years, he went to the doctor he had studied under and was given a for-mula for making a tonic from herbs. mula for making a tonic from herosis roots, barks, iron and other medical ingredients. From the very first, this tonic gave wonderful results. People that were weakened by disease, old age and overwork were quickly made vigorous and strong after taking a few bottles of the tonic. The dams and locks lief from their annual cases complete cures resulted. As the years rolled by, the old doctor tried the various new tonics as they came out, but never found anything that would give him the same good results as his own preparation. So up to the very time of his death in 1914 at the ripe old age of 85 years, he gave this good old tried and true medicine to his patients.

Do you buy your clothes without a thorough investigation of their vital value points? Some men look as though they did.

The quality may be there, the fabric value may be all it should be, but—there's more to a real suit than fabric quality.

There's style. Proper lines that follow your figure and fit your age. There's workmanship that has as much to do with wear as the woolens. There's fit, and if your clothes do not fit perfectly they'll never look right nor will they wear right.

And there's price. Too many men are penalizing their purses in their search for good clothes. Too many men are spending twice what they ought to, to get the result we offer in
